

6761

A dark brown, irregularly shaped rock specimen, possibly a piece of iron ore or a similar mineral. The surface is rough and textured, with some lighter, yellowish-brown patches scattered across it. The number '6761' is written in yellow on the upper part of the specimen. The rock is set against a plain, light gray background.